In The Next Volume

Lots of girls collect dolls, but Hinagi Ori is a doll designer that collects parts—human parts. Admired for his beautiful life-sized dolls, Ori has many fans, but there's a reason his dolls are so lifelike, and it's a horror that Sunao will come face-to-plastic face with when she's kidnapped by the doll-maker. However, to do this she'll have to confront something she's long since denied—her past.

Volume 2 also introduces us to Misawa, 15-year-old ghost hunter extraordinaire, and her partner Amara as they fight to rid their school of a frightening phantom in the exciting side story, "The Good Times Never End."

Fujiwara Sunao is a rather unusual young lady. Not only does she prefer to wear her hair short and dress like a boy, but she also possesses the power to control water! One might think Fujiwara would be an odd fit at her school, but strangely, she's not. Between the destructive and demented school president, the kooky and somewhat stalker-like school nurse, and the obsessed underclassman who wants to be her apprentice, Fujiwara may be the sanest person at the school—which is a big help considering she may be asked to save it!
